EDITORIAL POLICY: Opinions expressed by columnists, contributors and letter writers are not necessarily those of the Stouffville Sun. Letters — not to exceed 400 words — must include name and phone number. (Phone number will not be published). Requests that a name be withheld will be honoured only if there is a compelling reason to do so. Errors will be corrected if brought to the editor's attention. We reserve the right to edit or refuse publication of any material submitted. ADVERTISING POLICY: Publisher is not liable for slight changes or typographical errors that do not lessen the value of an advertisement. The publisher is not liable for other errors or omissions in any subsequent issue or the refund or any monies paid for the advertisement. All claims of error must be made by Friday prior to the next week's publication. No claim will be allowed for more than one insertion.

EDITORIAL

The newcomers

The numbers are clear. Their impact on this community is fuzzier.

The Stouffville area's current population of around 12,000 will grow to around 28,000 within the next 10 to 15 years.

Traditionalists will blame the Big Pipe, the York-Durham sewage system being built to Stouffville, for changing the face of their sacred small town. Business owners, eager for new customers, will sing the praises of the pipe.

No one can stop the growth. It's been approved. All that's left to determine is the size of the thousands of new homes and the lots they will be built on.

The question remains: Are we ready for the growth?

We trust new schools will be in place when the new students move here. York Region's school boards have been ahead of growth with new schools in recent years. That's a positive thing compared to the fields of portables often seen in new subdivisions.

What about recreation? Our year-old pool, library and fitness centre were built with growth in mind. Does Whitchurch-Stouffville need a third ice pad? Prime-time ice is fully booked. Local hockey teams are heading out of town for practices again.

Whitchurch-Stouffville's churches, service clubs and sports groups should also be prepared. New residents will be looking for churches to attend, clubs to join and sports to play.

Are we ready?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Luke, family feel community support

To the Editor:

On the evening of Dec. 28, our family had the honour of attending the Saucey Shindig, a fundraising event held for our son, Luke, at Latcham Hall in Stouffville. Luke was injured in a mountain bike accident last fall.

We were overwhelmed by the outpouring of support shown by those who attended, by those who may have contributed directly to the trust fund, by those who donated items for the auction, by those who worked at tables, doors and booths and by those who planned and organized the event.

Luke insisted that he be there and we were delighted that he was able to see for himself just how much he is supported and cheered for.

We never doubted, but now we know for sure, that there is an entire community lending Luke a hand as he confronts this most difficult challenge.

We are truly grateful for the town's concern, effort and kindness.

Sponsors appreciated by girls' hockey team

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the Stouffville A&P and Stouffville's Gary and Valerie Hembruff of the Ultimate Pro Shop in Newmarket, for their sponsorship of the Stouffville-Markham Girls Hockey Association PeeWee C Select team.

The girls are having a great season and truly appreciate the support given to us by these companies.
