Foxbridge is under new management

As of April fourth of this year, there are new operators. The management group are locals that have lived in the area for years. Bill Scott is the new general manager. Gwen Layton will remain as the clubhouse manager and Rick Joudrey remains as the superintendent. The new group has plans to reinvest in the golf course and will improve the irrigation system starting this year. They will also offer discounts to members who have played there previously or join this year. Foxbridge caters to every level of golfer. It plays to 5611 yards which will expand with new tees that will be in play this year. The course has two licensed clubhouses and hosts reasonably priced tournaments.
