Is preparing for a great school year for your child part of your agenda this summer?

Is preparing for a more successful school year, part of the agenda for your child this summer? It should be, because research tells us that the summer break is far too long a time for your child to be in a state of academic slumber. Many parents are recognizing this fact and enrolling their children in the Oxford Learning Centre Summer Academic Camp program.

Teachers tell us that when children return to school in the fall, many of them have forgotten much of what they had learnt the year before, and instead of grasping new concepts, struggle to remember material taught to them in the previous year. Educators at Oxford Learning Centre believe that although summer is a time to relax and enjoy the outdoors, it is also a great time for your child to catch up on missing concepts, brush up on study skills, as well as enjoy a number of creative and educational activities.

all geared towards learning. Oxford Learning Centres also offer summer catch up classes for High School students in all areas of Math and Science, as well as some very useful skills such as time management, note taking, goal setting, etc., to ensure your teen's High School success.

Oxford Learning Centres offer Academic Camps to provide your child an environment of learning, as well as fun. We begin with a short diagnostic assessment which tells us exactly what your child needs, and which areas he needs to brush up. We then put together a customized lesson plan for your child, which includes working at filling in those gaps, as well as learning some very useful study skills.

This summer, between the splash in the pool, ice cream cones and barbecues, make sure that your child gets some brain fuel as well, so that your child is ready for the next school year, alert, bright and ready to create a great impression, on his new teacher, his class mates, and most importantly, feel great about himself.

Oxford Academic camps run half days full days and you can select the days that work for you. Time is allocated to reading, writing, math, French or study skills. No... our camps are not all work, for your fun loving youngster we have tons of other activities, such as experiments and crafts,

Call Oxford Learning Centres for an appointment. Some spots still available.
