Davenport leads SDSS math team

Four young mathematicians from Stouffville District Secondary School placed in the top 25 percent in this year's Waterloo Math Contest.

They were among the 85 students from SDSS and the more than 80,000 students from across the country who entered the competition.

This year's outstanding accomplishment was by Grade 11 student Ian Davenport, who has placed in the top 25 per cent for three straight years.

"It is a great achievement," said teacher Diane Vivian. "It is a very challenging test."

The other SDSS students who achieved top marks in the math contest are Jennifer Tubby, who is in Grade 9, Corey Stewart in Grade 10 and OAC student Jennifer Friedbacher.

Math department head Simone Baumgartner, along with Hannelore Volpe

with teachers Stephanie Petis, Ron Eldridge, Vicki Schulz, Diane Vivian, Elaine Kiriakou, Albert Krnic and Brian Dalziel, prepared students for the contest at lunchtime math labs and before and after school.

Grandma's road trip stops at mission

A 48-year-old grandmother parked her bicycle at the Christian Blind Mission on Stouffville Road last week after more than a month of pedaling.

Rita Letkeman started her Tour de Freedom Cyclethon in Vancouver and will have pedalled 6,072 km by the time she reaches Halifax to raise money and awareness for local Pregnancy Care Centres.

The grandmother of seven was prompted to undertake the grueling cross-Canada tour to support the Pregnancy Care Centres (PCC) because she had helped her own daughter through an unplanned pregnancy 12 years ago.

Pregnancy Care Centres encourage expectant mothers to carry their unborn children to term.

The non-profit, charitable organizations provide pregnancy tests, maternity and baby needs, abstinence education and post-abortion peer support.

The Pregnancy Care Centre for Markham/Stouffville is at 6070 Hwy 7 East in Markham. Call 905-472-4357 for more information.
