Bitu Makky, owner of Mak Hair Studio, and senior hair and makeup artist, said Lesley had very long, thick hair with lots of bangs and a natural hair colour that was pretty, but flat.

So, to reflect the beauty of the season, Bitu used fall colours.

"Copper, red, and gold are perfect colours for the season," explained Bitu. "They can be mixed together or used alone."

Lesley looked great with blonde highlights, however, Bitu explained that the warmth and richness of a warm colour was needed to enhance the look.

"I decided to use three different shades of copper, sunshine blonde, and light blonde to enhance her hair colour, and give her some texture and depth," explained Bitu.

Next, Bitu used a foil technique to create chunky highlights around the crown area, which gradually become thinner to blend with Lesley's natural hair colour.

Lesley has a pretty face that was lost in her thick, long hair, explained Bitu. "I decided to bring her length up to her shoulder with lots of layers to give her movement and style." Bitu added that more layers were added to the back, while layers in the front were kept longer.

"Lesley is tall, so I didn't want to put too many short and wispy layers around her face, which would make her face look long," Bitu explained.

Bitu suggested that Lesley grow out some of her bangs, and while styling the hair, some of the bangs were brushed back. Bitu kept just enough to achieve a softer look.

After styling the hair, Bitu applied makeup to finish Lesley's new, exciting style.

"Lesley is conservative," said Bitu. "I wanted to give her a look that suits her personality."

Soft Earth tones and brown were used for her shadow, however, the focus was on Lesley's eyes, which were emphasized by a liquid black eyeliner. A neutral, earth tone lip gloss was used for lipstick. Bitu stressed that eyes are the main focus of makeup this fall, especially smoky eye shadows used with neutral lipstick during the days, and rich, warm colours at night.

The finished look surprised Lesley, who admitted to not regularly wearing makeup.

"The new look is fabulous!" said Lesley, thrilled at how different she now looks. "They gave me a new look, and gave me new ideas for eyeliner and foundation."

Best of all, Lesley is receiving a lot of attention from friends, family and co-workers.

"My husband was shocked," she said. "He had to take two looks at me. He didn't believe it was me. At work, my new look was a shock to everyone. They were all surprised, and everyone came over to my desk. Now they all want to go to Mak Hair Studio!"

Lesley felt very comfortable at the salon, and said she'll definitely go back.
