Ghostly show marks Latcham's 25th year

Claremont artist Sally Wildman's solo exhibition Deja View kicks off the Latcham Gallery's 25th year in Stouffville.

The show runs from Sunday until Feb. 15. Everyone is welcome to attend the opening reception Sunday from 1 to 3 p.m. and meet the artist.

The retrospective show of 25 years of Ms. Wildman's paintings includes works displayed in the Latcham Gallery's inaugural 1979 exhibition.

ENGLISH ROOTS

Pastoral scenes, the country life and farm animals form the subjects of Ms. Wildman's paintings, reflecting her rural roots in Northumberland, England.

She portrays conventional subjects in often unconventional ways.

Her earlier works often focus on figures, but in her more recent works, "the people appear more like ghosts or traces of the individuals", said Maura Broadhurst, Latcham Gallery's curator. These later works are mainly in oil pastels applied in unusual ways.

Ms. Wildman's works reveal an ethereal, playful quality. The subject, whether a person, bird, flower or sheep, comes and goes from the surface, is repeated into a pattern or is presented only in part, allowing viewers to finish the story.

The Latcham Gallery at 6240 Main St. is open Wednesday to Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday.

For more information, call the gallery at 905-640-8954.
