Artistic Impressions Landscaping

In the rush to transform your backyard into an outdoor living area, many gardeners overlook the most important aspect of the process - the design. You'll get the best results if your garden has structure and purpose. Here are some tips from Artistic Impressions Landscaping to get you started:

- As a rule, imagine your garden as an extension of your interior. Start with defining areas of the garden such as where to sit, where to dine and entertain, a swimming area, a pond, or play areas for kids. Then decide on building elements such as stone walls, trellises, pergolas or gazebos to define these spaces. Finally, add the decorative elements - the plants.
- Another consideration in designing your garden should be your garden style. Although climate and sunlight determine which plants will be happy in your garden, you will need to decide if your garden will be casual country, urban sophisticate or cottage style.

When considering the budget for your project, remember that your garden will complement your house and the surrounding neighbourhood. On average, expect to invest at least 10% of the value of your home into your landscaping. Any project can be broken down into manageable chunks once there is an overall concept.

Artistic impressions Landscaping will plan a strategy to create your new outdoor living area. We have full construction crews to construct your stone patio, build your deck and plant your garden. Call us today at 905-472-0797.
