2005 Infiniti Q45 makes its Canadian debut

Q45 debuts this summer with exterior enhancements and performance refinements

The most obvious changes on the 2005 Q45 include a new front fascia with restyled hood and grille, new headlights and integrated fog lamps

The 2005 Infiniti Q45 premium luxury sedan will make its Canadian debut this summer with a new, more aggressive look, a more luxurious interior and better performance.

"Q45 has always expressed our ideas about what a flagship vehicle should be," said Ian Forsyth, Infiniti Canada director of product planning. "And changes we have made to the new 2005 Q45 mean the best just got better."

The most obvious changes on the 2005 Q45 include a new front fascia with restyled hood and grille, new headlights and integrated fog lamps. The rear fascia has also been restyled as has the trunk deck lid and finisher. LED taillights and new fine-line chrome trim complete the new look at the rear.

New sport contour, double-stitched seats and new pure-white meter cluster and soft-touch control cluster finish highlight Q45's new-look interior. An all-new metal-trimmed shifter bezel, rich genuine dark maple wood and chrome accents complete the transformation.

To add to its already impressive performance, the Q45's advanced five-speed automatic transmission has been recalibrated for improved downshift response and smoother acceleration.

Other enhancements to the 2005 Q45 include standard rain- and speed-sensing windshield wipers, a standard DVD-based Infiniti Navigation system and new patented brake-operated "pre-crash" front seatbelts, which tighten under emergency braking to enhance the position of the driver for emergency maneuvering control. It also helps to position the driver and front passenger for potential air bag deployment.

Q45 continues to provide an array of standard performance and technology features, including a 340-horsepower V8 engine, voice-activated controls, a DVD navigation system with a seven-inch LCD information display screen, RearView monitor and one of the most powerful headlight systems in the world. Also standard are climate-controlled seats, Intelligent Cruise Control with Preview Braking, heated, reclining rear seats and a performance-tuned active dampening suspension.

"In fact," Forsyth says, "Q45 comes in only one fully equipped model. No add-ons are required because it already has the very best of everything."

Q45 is powered by Infiniti's 4.5-litre V8, which is also used in the Infiniti M45 performance sedan and FX45 premium crossover SUV. In the Q45, this engine produces 340 horsepower and 333 foot-pounds of torque.

The V8 features titanium valves, modular cylinder heads, microfinished crankshaft, lightweight pistons and silent single-stage cam drive chain. In addition, it is outfitted with a variable length air induction system and Continuously Variable Valve Timing Control System (CVTCS).
