homeowners different ideas and products to achieve their goals."

With the motto, "Creative Ideas, Concrete Solutions", Newtonbrock Block looks forward to inspiring homeowners with an excellent selection of products, including retaining walls and interlocking stone, all specifically manufactured to stand up to the harsh Canadian climate.

Another vendor, A. Gundert Landscaping, is also looking forward to inspiring homeowners with new and exciting home improvement solutions.

"The Markham Home Show has proven very successful for us, and the show draws people from all over York Region," explained Construction Consultant/Supervisor Ken Alexander. "The nature of the home show allows people to spend more time with you and learn what your business has to offer. The show is a fantastic form of advertising, and most guests find the answers and products they're looking for."

Ken's exhibit will feature both hard and soft landscape materials as well as a special water feature and innovative night lighting ideas.

In business since 1957, A. Gundert Landscaping will also be featuring their high quality man-made stone and natural stone products, as well as garden focal points such as fountains and iron works.

"We have a lot to offer the home enthusiast," said Ken. "Our landscape division deals with residential projects and our maintenance division handles commercial and residential properties. We also offer landscape design."

In addition to the wide range of home improvement products and services, the Markham Spring Home Show will also feature many exciting seminars and entertainers.

Rene Huard, the Antique Hunter, will be at the Markham Spring Home Show

This year's special guest is Rene Huard, antique specialist and host of Prime T.V.'s "Antique Hunter." Rene will be conducting two free appraisal sessions and visitors are invited to bring their small collectibles for Rene to view.

Guests are also invited to a variety of instructional seminars courtesy of Rona, featuring the latest trends and techniques for home deck and fence building, as well as concrete patio stones and stone walls. Learn the secrets of the trade that will make your neighbours jealous!

Visitors wanting to learn a more Eastern approach to placing items in their home and yards won't want to miss Feng Shui specialists Russ and Katherine Loader. The Loaders will take the mystery out of this ancient art while explaining its many benefits to the modern home and lifestyle.

The Loaders are Canada's leading authorities on Feng Shui, and the owners of "Power of Place." They will answer many questions during their interactive seminar while sharing simple solutions to balance and enhance your life.

And finally, the biggest and best ever Spring Home Show wouldn't be complete without the sounds of music. Well-known and highly talented local musician Del Mott will be performing on the stage both Friday and Saturday.

You definitely don't want to miss the 2005 Markham Spring Home Show, with so many products, businesses, and creative ideas, you're sure to leave with something, the minimum being inspiration!
