Stone Mason Dental ~ Dr. A. Girgis

Many people would like to make improvements in their lives but simply don't have the time. Restrained by complex schedules, commitments to families, our jobs, our communities, it seems we hardly have time for ourselves. On top of all these responsibilities are the social demands to look great and feel healthy. However, there is a solution for those wishing to improve their smile in the shortest amount of time, and with immediate results!

Dr. A. Girgis knows your life is full of demands. He wants to help you look and feel your best, starting with offering you whiter teeth in one visit using "the Zoom! System" as seen on the "Extreme Makeover Show."

"Zoom!" professional whitening system uses hydrogen peroxide to lighten the discolouration of your enamel and dentine. It is clinically proven to lighten your teeth at least six to eight shades whiter in one hour. In fact, the Zoom! system is fast, safe and effective, and is the perfect choice for individuals on the go! In addition, the Zoom! procedure is easy and painless. The clinician goes through a brief preparation procedure before applying a special whitening gel that is unique to the Zoom! system. The special gel is then activated by a specifically designed light to achieve the revolutionary Zoom! effect. Finally, the process is completed with a five-minute fluoride treatment.

Come to the "Stone Mason Dental Office" and meet the team who can help you achieve a whiter, brighter smile. Now is the time to make a choice for yourself by trying the fast and effective Zoom! whitening system. You'll truly be amazed. Add this short procedure to your schedule today, you definitely won't regret it!

Ramer's House Sitting Gives You Peace of Mind

Next time you leave your home for a vacation or business trip, you can now add peace of mind to your checklist.

Ramer's House Sitting, a new business based out of Markham, will ensure you leave worry-free while your home, property and valuables remain secure under the watchful supervision of a house sitter with a highly-qualified and experienced background in security.

"If I left home, I would definitely want the peace of mind that comes with knowing a qualified, capable and insured person is watching over my property," explained owner Jane Ramer. "I would also like to know them on a one-on-one basis so I would have no worries."

Ramer's House Sitting is a small business and believes in the personal touch. This ensures home owners know who will be watching over their valuables and property, and helps build a trustful and open relationship.

Jane has been working in law enforcement for more than 20 years, and is more than qualified to ensure customer's homes are secure while they are away. In addition, she has worked as an Operations Manager for a security firm which involved securing, administering perimeter checks, and monitoring commercial and industrial properties. Now she brings her extensive background and deep knowledge of the business to the protection of your home.

"I will make sure everything is locked and secured," explained Jane. "Inside I will check all the windows, then carry out a complete interior check, including all doors, garages, and any other place someone could potentially gain access."

A house sitter can be an important deterrent to a potential burglary by preventing the appearance of an empty house, such as stacks of newspapers and mail, and an unkempt yard.

Besides basic security, a house sitter is very important to protect your home from safety risks and accidental damage, such as burst pipes in the winter, and the monitoring of the furnace and thermostats. Jane explained that not many homeowners are aware that if they are away for more than five days, insurance will not cover any damage which occurs, and added that in winter a home should be checked every 24 hours.

"There's no limited amount of time a homeowner can be away," explained Jane. "If they are away for an extended amount of time overseas on business, daily, weekly and twice-weekly checks can be arranged."

Before the homeowner leaves, Jane will arrange a meeting at the home to become familiar with the interior and outside property. A perimeter check will be carried out to make note of any existing damage or areas of concern. This guarantees that homeowners are aware of the condition of their home before leaving to avoid problems when they return. In addition, extra services are available upon request such as grass cutting in the summer.

"I will take care of some pets, with the exception of dogs," explained Jane. "I will water plants, and feed smaller animals such as cats, fish or hamsters." Jane explained that dogs are at times too territorial, which may pose a safety concern.

The amount of time Jane spends on each daily or weekly check depends on the size of the home and any extra services requested.

"If clients just want a quick check, that's what I'll do," explained Jane. "However, the average visit lasts about 30 minutes."

Prices are not fixed, and depend on the services provided, amount of time spent in the home, and the amount of driving required.
