3 locals picked for juried show at Latcham art gallery

BY HANNELORE VOLPE
Staff Writer

Three local artists were among the 40 southern Ontario residents whose works were selected for this year's open juried show at the Latcham Gallery.

The works of Italo Abate, Steve Noorhoff and Ralph Pohlman were chosen from 265 entries.

This is the largest number of entries ever received for the show, curator Maura Broadhurst said.

The show opened Saturday and continues until May 14.

Awards were presented by MPP Lui Temelkovski to first-place winner Debra Archibald for her work entitled Bloor Viaduct, Judith Welbourn for Tree Alphabet, which received the second place award, and two third place winners, Ralph Pohlman for Giant Wheel and Jason J. Botkin for Mark in Profile.

Jurors were water colourist Neville Clarke, David Liss, curator of the Museum of Contemporary Canadian Art, and textile artist Judith Tinkl, who teaches at the Ontario College of Art and Design.

The show includes paintings, photography, sculpture and print-making.

For the second year, gallery visitors will have a chance to select their favourite works for the People's Choice Awards. Winners will be announced at the end of the exhibition.

The show is sponsored by Cook (Canada) Inc. with IDA Pharmacy and Sandy MacKenzie Insurance, both of Stouffville, contributing to the awards.

The Latcham Gallery is at 6240 Main St. in Stouffville. Call 905-640-8954.

*The good news is,
you can get your kids vaccinated for this kind of behaviour.*

Believe it or not, your kid can die from kissing. Or sharing a bottle, a straw, even a smoke or lipstick. It's called meningitis C and sharing saliva spreads it. Basically, bacteria infect the bloodstream and the lining of the brain and spinal cord. Symptoms include headache. Fever. Fatigue. A stiff neck. Sensitivity to light. Dizziness. And a red, blotchy rash. They could lose their hearing. An arm or a leg. Worse, more than 1 in 10 who get infected die. So talk to your kid about getting their free vaccination. Clinics are being held in your community and in most schools, for 15- to 19-year-olds. Call your local public health unit for more information. Or talk to your doctor, visit: www.health.gov.on.ca, or call 1-877-234-4343, TTY 1-800-387-5559.
