Capote will intrigue viewers

Capote
Starring Philip Seymour Hoffman, Catherine Keener, and Clifton Collins Jr.
Directed by Bennett Miller
Written by Dan Futterman

Anne Brodie

This is a powerful, gut wrenching and exasperating, but brilliant film on the American writer Truman Capote and his connection to the brutal Clutter family murders of 1959.

Mr. Capote invented a new form of literature, the non-fiction novel, reporting the facts of the murders of four members of a wealthy Kansas farming family in the framework of their impact on the tiny close-knit community, the backgrounds of victims and the men executed for the crimes.

He had alienated the cream of New York society, who flocked to him after the true crime book In Cold Blood was released and fled from him when he revealed their secrets in the articles and subsequent book Answered Prayers. I stood behind him in a long lineup to see a Toronto premiere in 1979 and noticed he was surrounded by adoring young men who nearly carried him into the theatre like a tiny god. To say Capote was a manipulator is a massive understatement, according to this film. The day after reading the account of the murders in the New York Times, Mr. Capote boarded a train bound for Kansas with his life long friend, Pulitzer Prize winning author of To Kill a Mockingbird author Nelle Harper Lee.

She would help him compile notes and interview locals for Capote's book.

He startled the locals with his outré appearance and manners, but soon wormed his way into the home and hearts of the local lawman Alvin Dewey and his wife, a big fan.

He used his connection to read police notes and later bribed the warden of the jail where the murderers were held to have unlimited access to them.
