

Stouffville Says

By Hannelore Volpe

With just a month of shopping to go, what's the hot gift for Christmas?

— Asked at the Giant Tiger plaza

My 17-year-old grandson wants an iPod.

Barry
DYBALL

Gift certificates for adults and teenagers, to clothing stores for girls and Canadian Tire for the guys.

Annie
KELLY

Kids want any kind of toy you can think of, but for a person my age, all I want is health.

Bawdy house charge for Stouffville man

Three people were arrested and charged with bawdy house offences Friday following a raid by York Regional Police on a Richmond Hill massage parlour.

Executing a Criminal Code search warrant, officers with the drugs and vice enforcement bureau at a massage parlour entered the Nagoya Health Spa on East Wilmot Street after investigations led them to believe the establishment was operating as a front for prostitution.

Two women, one from Markham and one from Toronto, were charged with being inmates of a bawdy house, while a Stouffville man was charged with being found in a bawdy house.

Coren talks to Tories at Main St. fundraiser

Conservative broadcaster and writer Michael Coren is coming to Stouffville Monday.

He'll be at a fundraiser starting at 6:30 p.m. for the Oak Ridges Markham Conservative Association at The Corner House Restaurant on Main Street.

He will speak on the state of Canadian politics.

Mr. Coren hosts a radio show on CFRB, is a Toronto Sun columnist and is a host with CTS TV.

Those attending the fundraiser will have a chance to talk to Mr. Coren afterward.

Tickets are $100 per person. For more information, call 416-710-3616 or marjnielsen@ca.inter.net or 905-472-6848.
