One of the lead characters from the Guys and Dolls, Shawna Sanders (centre), along with other York Durham Academy for the Performing Arts cast members rehearsed a routine at Christ Church Anglican in Stouffville Sunday. The show runs today and tomorrow at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 12:30 p.m. at EastRidge Evangelical Church on the 10th line north of Main Street.

Youthful actors cast in Guys & Dolls

First performance tonight

Guys and Dolls, a popular musical comedy that has had actors such as Marlon Brando and Frank Sinatra in title roles, is taking to the stage in Stouffville.

A youthful local cast is bringing the musical production by the York Durham Academy for the Performing Arts to life, complete with colourful costumes and catchy music.

The story, by Damon Runyon and set in a mythical New York, revolves around the efforts of gambler Sky Masterson to woo a stand-offish female missionary on a bet.

Local cast members include Ellen Reesor as Sgt. Sarah Brown while gambler Sky Masterson is played by veteran academy performer Greg Outram-Kuzma.

Shawna Sanders portrays Miss Adelaide, who battles a chronic flu, perhaps related to the fact she's been engaged for 14 years to Nathan Detroit, the itinerant gambler, played by Derek Goad.

They are among the 19 cast members in the production, most of high school age.

Guys and Dolls is the first of four musicals by the youth theatre company this season, including Stouffville's first dinner theatre.

Guys and Dolls, Beauty and the Beast (March 2 to 4) and The Sound of Music (May 4 to 6) are all at the EastRidge Evangelical Church on 10th Line north of Main Street.

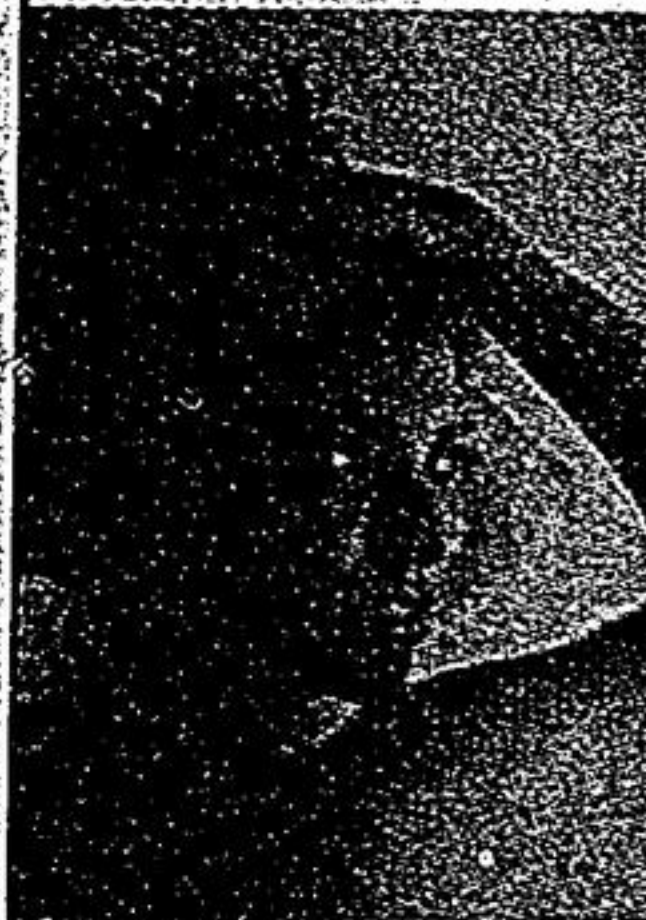

Stouffville's first dinner theatre production of Little Shop of Horrors, June 9 and 10, is in the Great Hall of Christ Church Anglican.

Guys and Dolls runs to Saturday with performances beginning at 7 p.m. today, Thursday and Friday and 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets are $19 for adults and $15 for students and seniors and are available by calling 905-640-0823 or by logging on to www.shows.ca
