Students win at tech fair

A pair of Trillium School students earned gold and silver awards at the York Region Science and Technology Fair at Seneca College's York campus.

Warren Chu, 13, a Grade 7 student at the private Markham school, received gold for his study on surface tension in different liquids.

He was also awarded an all-expense-paid trip to attend the week-long Canadian Science Fair in Saguenay, Quebec later this month.

Juliana Kwong, a 12-year-old Grade 7 student was awarded a silver medal for her project, an experiment to determine the best fasteners for the Canadian climate.

She determined painted screws are best because they resist rust.

Police celebrate Asian month

May is Asian Heritage Month and the York Regional Police is inviting residents to join the police service today at its McCowan Road station for an afternoon of celebrating Asian traditions and contributions.

One of the day's highlights is a display showcasing the many Asian officers and civilian staff members of York Regional Police past and present.

Dignitaries as well as members of the Canadian Federation of Intercultural Friendship, Federation of Chinese Canadians in Markham, Markham Federation of Filipino Canadians, Ahmadiyya Movement in Islam, Hindu Temple Society of Canada and members of other cultural groups will be present.

For more information, call York Regional Police's Diversity and Cultural Resources Bureau at 1-866-876-5423 ext. 7986 or e-mail 1041@yrp.ca
