

Trash fashion show
highlight of festival

Looking for a windfall of music, good food and entertainment?

Look no further than the fifth annual Windfall Ecology Festival, this Saturday and Sunday at Fairy Lake in Newmarket.

Saturday evening will feature the popular trash fashion show and competition where students from Seneca College will showcase their outrageous creations made from recycled materials.

There will also be native storytelling, tantalizing organic foods, renewable energy workshops and exhibits of natural products.

For the eclectic music lover, a sitar ensemble with Ram Vakkalanka, Green Men PVC, Iranian folk dance by Maria Sabaye and the Juno-nominated Truths and Rights Reggae Band will dazzle on the world music concert stage.

The festival runs Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Session explores ecotourism

Planning your next family outing? You might want to check out an information session on ecotourism at the Newmarket public library multipurpose room June 14.

Ecotourism means enjoying nature while maintaining a low impact on the environment so future generations can also enjoy it.

Harold Sellers of the Oak Ridges Trail Association will speak about how hiking trails promote ecotourism and Jack Contin of the G'Nadjiwon Ki Aboriginal Tourism Association will talk about sustainable aboriginal tourism.
