Transportation
Master Plan Update

Moving... towards sustainable transportation

NOTICE OF STUDY COMMENCEMENT

The Regional Municipality of York has recently initiated a study to update the Region's Transportation Master Plan (TMP). This study will update the current plan approved in 2002 and incorporate the Province's significant changes in population and employment projections, land use and environmental policies, as well as, the Region's current Growth Management Initiative.

This study will follow the Municipal Class Environmental Assessment master planning process and will focus on improving the sustainability of the Region's transportation system. Public consultation will be a vital component of this study. The public is invited to review information, discuss issues and propose solutions. Public consultation centres will be scheduled at key points in the project. The dates, times and locations of these meetings will be posted in the local newspapers and on the Region's website (www.york.ca) under Services → Regional Planning → Infrastructure; select Transportation Master Plan (TMP) - Update.

Your ideas, questions or comments on the TMP Update are welcome. Please contact the following project representatives:

Trucks pulled from road during cop safety blitz

York Regional Police pulled nine trucks off the road Wednesday during a safety blitz on Bloomington Sideroad in Whitchurch-Stouffville.

Officers inspected 32 trucks during the spot checks.

There were 52 offences laid under the Highway Traffic Act.

Violations included insecure loads, failure to do pre-trip inspections, improper tires and overweight vehicles.

Meanwhile, a truck pulling a trailer was taken off the road in Vaughan after police discovered the vehicle was unsafe.

The driver was charged with 10 infractions under Highway Traffic Act.

Police ask commuters to report possible unsafe vehicles to them.

Child porn charges laid

A 20-year-old Markham man is charged with possessing and distributing child pornography after Toronto police discovered images on the Internet.

York Regional Police seized five computers, hard drives, CD ROMs and video clips from the man's home Thursday.

Toronto child exploitation officers tipped them to the discover early last month, said Det. Rob Thomson of York Region's child abuse unit.

Using software called LACE, York police hope to find out where disturbing images of girls aged two to four originated.

Police are still trying to determine if all five computers were involved, Det. Thomson said.

"It was a large family with computers for everyone," he said. "We'll check them and if there is no evidence on them, they'll be returned."
