too, was unsuccessful. The current property, on the Pickering airport lands, is rented and located on the Uxbridge-Pickering town line five minutes east of Stouffville.

"In the past they have wanted to move and run into financial difficulties," Mr. Vriend said. "This time it is important to be on the move and to be in a high-profile area. As parents today, we want schools that are well-built, modern facilities and we want good programs."

Currently, all classrooms at the Stouffville Christian School are in portables with only the gymnasium and the school office in an old church on the property.

"We just need to become more visible in the community," Mr. Vriend said. "We need to make ourselves better known. The education we are offering is very good."

That includes a variety of sports such as soccer, cross-country, track and field and probably the area's only elementary school hockey team. The band program for Grades 5 to 8 is led by Wayne Hill, founder of the York-Durham Academy for the Performing Arts.

The school supports a Guatemalan child, the local food bank and gives musical and dramatic performances throughout York Region.

There are less than 10 students per teacher.

The school has 48 students from junior kindergarten to Grade 8 and five full-time teachers.

More information on the school is available by calling 905-640-3297 or logging on to www.stouffvillechristianschool.org

Fieldstone Windows update ranch bungalow

Homeowners John and Eris knew it was time to change the windows in their 'Rustic Ranch' bungalow. They were poor quality "builder grade" windows that were drafty and difficult to operate. Even the rear doors were beginning to deteriorate.

After speaking with a consultant from Fieldstone Windows, the couple realized that this was the perfect opportunity to make improvements to the style and function of their home.

"There were a lot of changes we made, that we might not have considered if Kevin hadn't suggested them" says John.

"We knew we wanted to change the colour to something more sophisticated, but hadn't thought about enlarging and making structural changes too."

spectacular 12' set of sliding french doors. Replacing the existing square windows with "camber-top" shaped windows to match the brick openings, was another idea that involved structural modifications. All the other windows were changed too and updated with 1 1/2" external muntins, for added drama. Fieldstone's goal is to have the finished window renovation look as though it belongs and has always been there. "The brickwork and mouldings are flawless," says Eris. "There are no tell-tale signs of our home's former identity. We love it, but just wish we had done the front door at the same time."
