

Singer works on U.S. anthem

From page 1.

Presbyterian Church in Stouffville, she has sung at many community and charity events. She represented Toronto in the provincial finals of the Kiwanis Music Festival and received the 2006 Whitchurch-Stouffville Music Scholarship award.

Jennifer helps kick off a new concert series at Stouffville United Church tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

She's also a competitive sprint kayaker with the Richmond Hill Canoe Club.

The "voice of the Spirit," she has been the anthem singer for the Junior A team for three years, and has performed for the likes of Don Cherry and several Leafs at Keith Acton's Game of our Lives charity hockey events.

The song is so important to a country that you don't want to mess it up.

Jennifer Thunem on learning The Star-Spangled Banner

"At the Spirit games, I sing in a traditional way," she said. "I may spice it up a bit (Monday). It will depend on what the judges are looking for."

That's just O Canada. She took a crash course in The Star-Spangled Banner this week.

"The song is so important to a country that you don't want to mess it up," she said. "But it's coming along nicely. I'm just working on the words."

Judges include Canadian Idol winner Melissa O'Neil, former Rockstar:INXS contestant Tara Stone and Degraasi: The Next Generation stars Jennifer Podemski and Lauren Collins.

Another competition for elementary school choirs sends the winning entry to sing at the Raptors game April 13 and collect $3,000 for its music program.

Star Television is taping the auditions for its show Making It.
