

Bach to Blues marks 10th anniversary singing with alumni

The Bach to Blues chorus is celebrating its tenth year with an anniversary Christmas concert Dec. 2. And it's looking for alumni to perform with them.

Former chorus members who want to join Bach to Blues in singing several songs at the concert can come to the Tuesday night practices at 7:30 p.m. at Stouffville United Church or come on the Sunday afternoon of the Dec. 2 concert at 4 p.m. to go over the songs.

The chorus performs a wide repertoire of music including mediaeval, the great composers, traditional and modern Christmas music, blues, Celtic, jazz and more.

OUR TOWN

There are more than 30 members in the chorus.

Concerts are held several times a year to raise funds for worthy causes and twice a year to defray the costs of the not-for-profit group.

Bach to Blues accepts singers from beginners to accomplished music readers.

The director is Ann Gage and Pat

Wild is the accompanist.

Stouffville United Church is at 34 Church St., just north of Main Street in downtown Stouffville.

The location for the Dec. 2 concert is to be announced.

For more information on the chorus, go to bachtoblues.com

Phone 905-649-2684 to take part.

Barbershoppers at St. James

St. James Presbyterian church welcomes special guests to its Christmas Concert, Sunday, Dec. 9.

The concert begins at 7:15 with a carol sing-a-long, followed by the concert featuring the St. James choir and the Mega City Chorus, international barber shop finalists.

The church is at 6432 Main St.

Tickets are $12 from choir members, Joint Venture Fitness and Physiotherapy or 905-642-0726.

Orchestra, chorus here for United Church concert series

Stouffville United Church's monthly concert series presents

Masterworks of Oakville, Chorus & Orchestra under the direction of Charles Demuyck Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

They will perform excerpts from G.F. Handel's Messiah.

A free-will offering will be collected.

The church, on Church Street north of Main Street, is wheelchair accessible. The series, launched earlier this year, has featured a variety of music.

For information, call the church at 905-640-1163.
