Pickering Deputy- Reeve Cautions Ajax on Too Many Requests

The Parent-Teacher Association at Ajax is not pleased that their children will have to attend high school classes at the Pickering District High School at Pickering, Chairman of the Improvement District of Ajax, Pat Bayly told County Council Friday. However, since the village has not yet any plans for its own high school, he personally has no objection to what has been done in school planning so far, he told council.

Mr. Bayly pointed out to council that possibly Ajax should have one more representative on the district board.

"I am not in disagreement with what has been done," said Mr. Bayly. "We are a fast-growing community and it may be that in five or six years the present facilities will have to be done. But the only point I wished to make, is that certain Ajax parents don't like to be presented with an accomplished fact in planning their school future. It leaves a bad taste."

Speaking indirectly on the subject, Deputy- Reeve Neil McEwen of Pickering commented: "Ajax (people) should move cautiously in their requests until they are fully established as a democratic community and able to guide their own affairs. I wouldn't want to see them at the present time insisting on "rights" on the same basis as other municipalities."

"That, in view of the fact that, in many civil actions, the litigants are electing trial by Judge and Jury, the costs are paid by the County. This County Council petitions the Provincial Government to amend the Juror's Act to provide that litigants would not be able to elect trial by jury unless their claim exceeded $500."

Pickering Township Finds Membership of County Road Board Unevenly Distributed

"I hope the members will realize when they are voting that it is important, in this large county, to have road board membership spread throughout the county, and particularly to have representation in the south which by reason of its large assessment, pays a large proportion of the costs of county roads," Reeve W. H. Westney of Pickering told County Council members in Whitby last week.

After voting was laboriously completed it was found the personnel of the road board is: Ernest Camick, Rama; Tom Harrison, Thorah; Garnet Wilson, Cannington; John Bruce, Mara, and Tom Harding, Reach. Harding and Harrison were already members of the Board. Wilson received a five-year term; Bruce, four years and Camick one year.

Mr. Westney rose to speak on the subject.

"That is the way we voted, but it is not a logical distribution of representation," he said.

Appointments to the road board are usually keenly contested and this was the case last week. Voting was conducted by means of the warden choosing each councillor's name at random from a tumbler and then the councillor is asked how he votes. If no candidate gets a clear majority, as is often the case, it is customary for the low man to withdraw with the results that votes may be switched to someone else. Should the low man be unwilling to withdraw, the situation is complicated. It is not often that a member of the road board actually serves out a long term. Many things can happen in five years. Most likely, he could be defeated in his own municipal elections. He might be elected warden, in which event he is expected to resign. He might, as in the case of Reeve William Noble last year, have to withdraw from the council through unusual circumstances.

"Bridge programs are going to be frowned upon this year," District Engineer Leslie Boucher told council. "Due to the scarcity of materials, the government does not want to put much steel in bridges. I was told just this week by Hon. George H. Doucett, Minister of Highways."

Continuing: "The minister has warned us that we should retrench on road programs because of the uncertain international situation," Mr. Boucher said.

Reeve Thomas Harding of Reach has been re-appointed chairman of the road board. Reeve Ernest Hayes is appointed a member of the Board of Audit. Reeve Duncan McIntyre and Rae Ferguson are appointed Commissioners of the County Home.
