

Dr. J. C. Brown Deceased in Madigan

Dr. James Clinton Brown, who had been in the hospital for some time, died in the hospital at Madigan, Oregon, on Monday, July 1, 1924. He was 62 years of age. He was born in Scotland and came to this country in 1870. He attended the Ontario University College in Ontario, Canada, and received his medical degree in 1892. He was a member of the Medical Association of Oregon and the Oregon State Medical Society. He was a member of the Madigan Hospital and was in charge of the hospital during the last few years of his life. He was a very kind and gentle man and was loved by all who knew him.

Fire in Madigan Heavy Rain

A fire broke out in the town of Madigan, Oregon, on Sunday, June 30, 1924. The fire started in a building on the corner of Main and Commercial streets. It was caused by a gas stove. The fire spread very rapidly and destroyed the building and the contents. The fire department arrived at the scene at 10:30 p. m. and worked until 1:30 a. m. The fire was extinguished and the cause was determined to be a gas leak. The fire caused a loss of about $5,000. The town of Madigan is a small town with a population of about 100 people. It is located in the county of Wheeler, Oregon.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.

Madigan County

The county of Wheeler, Oregon, was organized in 1857. It is one of the largest counties in the state. It has a population of about 10,000 people. The county is named after the Madigan family, who were the first settlers in the area. The county is known for its agriculture and its beautiful scenery. The county is a part of the Pacific Northwest and is a very important part of the state.