University - students' goal

STOUFFVILLE - Despite a temporary job shortage for University graduates, students from the Stouffville area are not discouraged from going on to institutions of higher learning.

This interest in post-secondary education was reflected Feb. 3, when over 130 young people attended 'University Night' held at S.D.S.S., to learn what college could offer a high school graduate.

Principal, W.E. Duxbury said over half the Grade 13 graduates went on to University last year. He anticipates little change this year.

Like many of his students, Mr. Duxbury feels that the present job shortage among University graduates is temporary.

But, he cautions, if the present slump continues for a year or two, it will most certainly be reflected in the number of students applying for University admission.
