

Green grass

YORK-CENTRE
Hon. George Kerr, Ministry of Energy and Resources Management, has described as 'a tremendous idea', a suggestion by Liberal Donald Deacon, that sewage runoff from treatment plants be used in the watering of golf course greens and fairways.

Mr. Deacon suggested the experiment begin this summer.

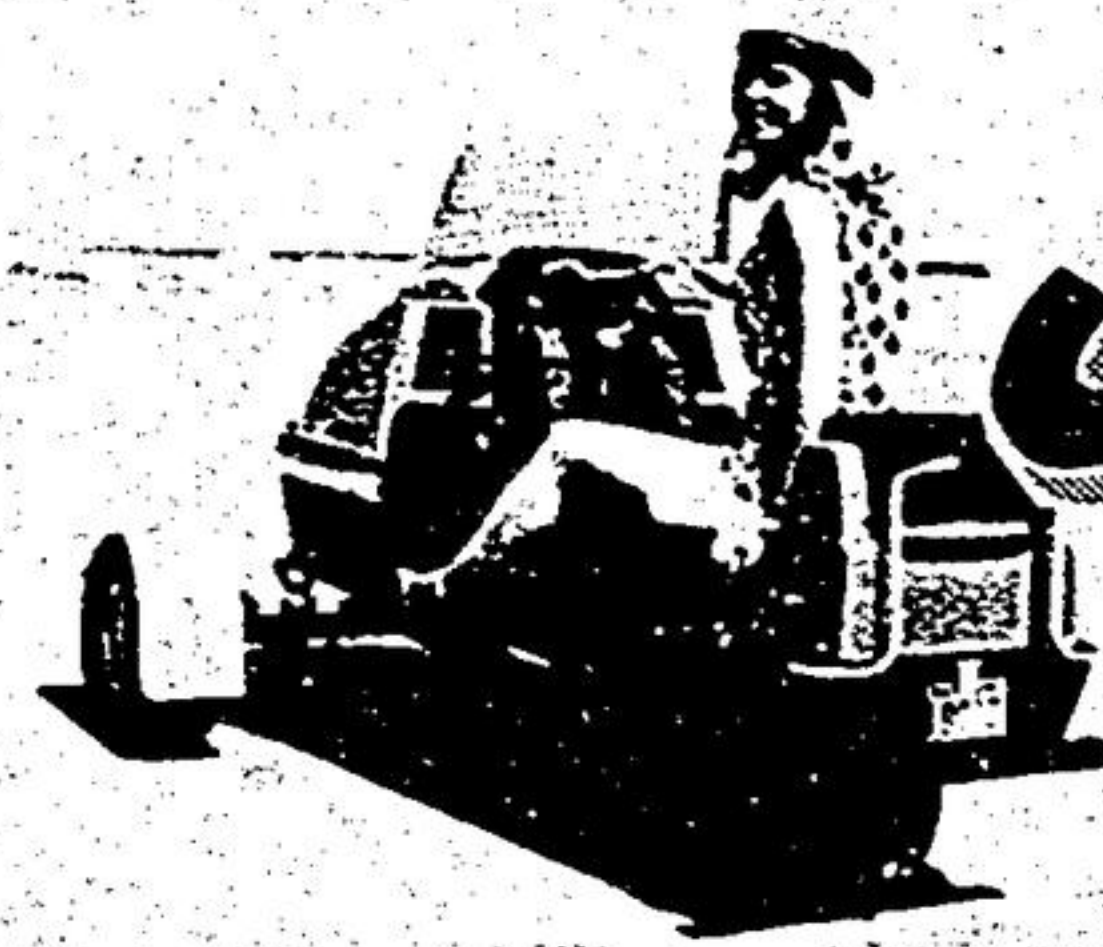

"There's no question, it makes things greener," agreed Mr. Kerr.

Fishing is a favorite past-time at Musselman's Lake. And they catch some big ones too.

Reserve trailer space

By Mark Niblett
MUSSELMAN'S LAKE - You can't count on a place to park your trailer these days.

At least, that seems to be the situation at the Cedar Beach trailer site. The park will accommodate almost 200 families, and many of the spaces are occupied on a long-term basis. A third of the spaces are held for visitors 'in transit', but this is strictly on a first-come-first-served system.

"We've been turning people away all spring," Vern Davies said.

Requests for space arrive from places as far away as Virginia, Texas and Maryland. Last year people from Alaska and the North-West Territories stayed at the camp. Many visitors are attending courses in Toronto, or working on a construction in the area. A lot of sites are booked right through to Thanksgiving, when the park closes.

The park has been substantially improved during the past few months. All lots have electricity and the majority of them are on the sewer system.

Considering all the facilities available at the park, it's understandable that they should be working at full capacity most of the time.

It's a shame to have to turn people away, but you can't argue with success.
