Some Thoughts

On Christmas

Win Timbers

The biggest build up of the year emotionally, commercially and in a religious sense always precedes the holiday we're just getting into - a time when we can all take it easy and rest on the oars a little.

The custom has prevailed for almost two thousand years, which is proof enough that it fills a deep human need. The need is for goodwill and happiness and charity. The rule is that if you give it you get it back in abundance.

It is no less true because it's been said before that less money spent on expensive gifts and more time spent on trying to do something Christian would help us all. Every church has the names of people who could use a helping hand this season.

Let us also appreciate our homes, which play such a very large part in our lives throughout the year, and are our haven at Christmas. Let's be thankful for a system that makes it possible for the average family to own their own home on their own land. In much of the world, it's an impossible dream.

Have a very merry Christmas!
