Late Nellie Davis

Village school teacher

Residents here were saddened, when news was received of the sudden passing in Toronto Western Hospital of Nellie Mae Davis, wife of K. Ross Davis, Church Street, Stouffville.

Mrs. Davis had entered hospital, Jan. 10 for surgery that was not looked on as serious. She died Jan. 12.

Born at Wingham, the daughter of John and Agnes Nicholls, she taught public school at both Durham and Stouffville. Many of those who called to pay their respects were former pupils.

Since her marriage, just over 50 years ago, she had lived at the same residence. On Sept. 8, 1971, Mr. and Mrs. Davis celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Mrs. Davis was a wonderful helpmate for her husband, both at home and behind the counter in the Tobacco Shop on Main Street. She loved flowers and the floral tributes at the O'Neill Funeral Home were beautiful, and appropriate.

Mrs. Davis was keenly interested in her family, a son, Jack, Toronto; two daughters, Mary, also of Toronto and Betty (Mrs. Jim Miller), Winnipeg, Manitoba, also two grandchildren, Sam and Paul Miller. A brother, John, lives in Toronto.

Rev. Douglas Davis conducted the service, Saturday afternoon, with interment, Stouffville Cemetery.

"Is it me - really me?" Asks unbelieving Uxbridge Centennial Queen

Sixteen year old Patricia Mantley, R.R.1, Uxbridge, covers her face with her hands, following her selection, Saturday, as the Town's Centennial Queen. The pageant was held in the auditorium of St. John's School, Uxbridge.

Looking on is runner-up, Shelley Brown (left); Mayor Ray Newton and Mrs. Marg Marshall, chief organizer of the event. The new 'queen' will reign over all future events throughout the year. —Jas. Thomas.

We extend a warm welcome to our newest resident Mrs. Mary Hogge. Mrs. Hogge comes to Parkview from Powassan and is the mother of Mrs. Pearl Saxby, Stouffville.
