Mrs. Caroline Peirce

'Not on the shelf yet'

MARKHAM - Mrs. Caroline Peirce, Main Street North, Markham, celebrated her 100th birthday, July 21.

She could pass for a lady of 65. And she thinks as young as she looks; a cheery smile lighting up the room in a tidy two-storey house where she resides with her sister Phyllis.

While the past, all 100 years of it, is important, Mrs. Peirce is very much a part of the present and looks forward with enthusiasm to the future.

She enjoys watching television, particularly the news. "I want to know what the world is doing", she exclaimed, with a twinkle in her eye. "I'm not quite on the shelf yet".

No one will argue. She walks up and down steps and stairs without assistance and keeps busy with regular household chores. Caroline or 'Carrie' as she is known to her neighbor friends, was born near Brighton in Sussex, England. Accompanied by her husband she came over to Canada by boat in 1907, joining her parents and two brothers already here. Mr. Peirce passed away in 1929.

Mrs. Peirce enjoys travelling and readily admits it wouldn't take too much persuasion to get her on a plane for a trip to some distant point. "Scared?" she questioned. "What's there to be scared of?"

Mrs. Peirce moved to Markham 22 years ago. She readily admits the town has changed, but notes with some feeling of satisfaction that many of her original friends still live close by. "Folks around here seem to live a long time", she observed.

For 'grandma' Peirce, a 100th birthday in 1972 is significant. She's the same age as the former incorporated village. She cut the centennial cake at a celebration last month and was the 'life' of an 'at home' party, July 23, on the lawn at the rear of her home. Among those attending was Mayor Tony Roman. She received a message of congratulations from the Queen.

The Tribune is pleased to add its best wishes too.

Smyth) of Toronto; two sons, George of Scarborough and Roy of Stouffville and six grandchildren.

The pall bearers, all nephews, were - Earl Dowswell, Goldie Kennedy, Lorne Lockie, Ches Oldham, Claude Watson and Fred Woodland.
