Bazaar raises $400

STOUFFVILLE Many of Toronto's 'forgotten' children will be remembered in a very real way this Christmas, thanks to Mrs. Irene Biggs of Bethesda and a group of dedicated workers. On Saturday, a bazaar in Latham Hall, Stouffville raised $400. All receipts will go to the Scott Mission, Toronto, to purchase Christmas gifts for boys and girls, who otherwise could find themselves waiting and wanting, Dec. 25. Mrs. Biggs has been doing this kind of thing for the past 20 years. She was assisted by members of the Bethesda Women's Institute and St. Timothy's Anglican Church, Agincourt. Mrs. Lonergan, wife of councillor Tom Lonergan, also helped out. "It was wonderful," said Mrs. Biggs, "everyone was so generous, so cooperative, I can never thank them enough". Preserves, cooking, knitting and even potted plants, were provided by Mrs. Biggs. She worked from early morning till late at night, getting displays ready for Saturday's sale. "The response made it all worthwhile," she said.
