

Unionville is growing, and with the completion of this most recent phase, will extend through to the 5th concession. A typical home in the new 'Village in the Valley' area is this chateau-type, 4-bedroom residence. A large shopping mall is also planned, to eventually serve a population approaching 5,000. —Jim Thomas.

Roman wins in Markham but Danson retains riding

Satisfied - says area organizer

MARKHAM - All was not gloom at Stephen Roman's Conservative campaign office, Markham, when results filtered in, Oct. 30, from other districts to confirm the re-election of Barnett Danson, Liberal. Danson retained the York-North federal seat, 28,334 votes to Roman's 26,026 and 11,111 for NDP candidate, Jim Reid.

The Markham division registered wins for Roman in 33 of its 54 polls, for a majority of 4,816 to 4,327 Liberal and 1,529 NDP (excluding advanced poll).

"I thought we were going to take it," commented Mrs. Muriel Oliver, an enthusiastic Tory from Gormley, who manned the Markham office throughout the campaign.

Don Hindson, district organizer, pointed out that their York-North representative in the last election had been soundly beaten in the Markham area and that, though disappointed in the over-all result, the local vote "was very satisfying".

"There was great interest in the election here," he said. "We had no difficulty obtaining workers and every house was canvassed."

When the conclusive votes had been recorded, Mr. Hindson thanked the Markham volunteers for all they had done and ended wistfully, "See you in 4 years."

A break-down of results by poll (Danson-Reid - Roman) in the Town of Markham follows: Victoria Square, 228 - 53 - 338; Buttonville, 198 - 61 - 236; Hood Residence, Kennedy Road, 54 - 26 - 53; Veteran's Hall, Unionville, 169 - 54 - 179; Parkview School, Unionville, 579 - 159 - 552; Union Villa, Unionville, 258 - 101 - 295; Bethany Lodge, Unionville, 70 - 28 - 94; Centennial Library, Unionville, 194 - 75 - 146; Robinson School, Markham, 539 - 219 - 599; Dublin Apartment, Markham, 97 - 30 - 107; Crosby School, Markham, 352 - 134 - 492; Markhaven Nursing Home, 276 - 98 - 300; Markham High School, 410 - 196 - 427; Armstrong School, Markham, 349 - 87 - 397; Box Grove, 74 - 39 - 68; Locust Hill, 128 - 39 - 101; Markham Lodge, 81 - 32 - 90; Dickson's Hill, 178 - 74 - 196; Parkside Youth Centre, 93 - 24 - 146.

Out of mud and clay - a new village

UNIONVILLE - It's a scene of contrasts; vast acres of mud and ribbons of asphalt; homes completed and houses just started; a planned shopping mall beside a delapidated barn.

It's all part of the latest phase of residential and commercial development west of Unionville known as 'Village in the Valley' or 'Carlton Village'. Take your pick.

The build-up, bounded by Hwy. 7 on the south, conc. 5 on the west, and 16th Avenue on the north, will come day after day to accommodate up to 5,000 people, including Varley Village to the east.

"If it all sounds a little confusing, think of the frustrations facing a delivery man attempting to find a house with no number on a street with no name in a subdivision with two names.

But hopefully, out of chaos will come order as grassy sods replace mud and asphalt covers gravel. The homes now completed are beautiful. The originals, built by the Bramalea Consolidated Development Limited, range in price from $46,250 to $48,400. Others by the Coventry-Graystone Group, have a price range from $42,674 to $47,900. Some boast

'soid' signs, long before they're finished.

In addition to the convenience of a proposed Mall, the handy location of Mark II Public School, has attracted many young couples to the site.

Alma Walker to seek election in Ward 5

MARKHAM - With the defeat of Mrs. Alma Walker for the Town of Markham mayoralty post, back in October, 1970, The Tribune announced the result as 'the end of an era'.

And it was - but not likely for long.

For Mrs. Walker has acknowledged her intent to return to municipal politics, this time as a councillor in Ward 5.

The election date is Monday, Dec. 4.

Alma Walker's decision to return to the political arena was based, in part, on two other factors, (1) The announced retirement of councillor Murray Henderson and (2) Knowledge that she could hold a Ward post and still retain her position at York Manor.

With regard to the latter, she has been assured that it is legally proper to hold both offices.

The decision by Murray Henderson not to seek re-election, comes as a surprise to many. In the past two years, he has been looked on as one of the Town's strongest council members. He also took a keen interest in matters pertaining to Planning and Recreation.

Councillor Henderson's record in the community is an enviable one. He served for 8 years on the Public School Board and 9 years on the High School Board. He was instrumental in obtaining a swimming pool and an arena for the old Town and has been active in seeing a start on a second arena at conc. 7, north of Hwy. 7. He has served on the Markham-York Hospital Board and in 1967, was the recipient of a prized Centennial Medal.

Murray Henderson's popularity within the Town was indicated at the last election when he polled 1,084 votes to only 215 for his opponent, Robt. McVey.

Alma Walker's service to Markham needs no telling. It dates back to 1954, extending over a period of 16 years.

Even against a formidable opponent like Tony Roman, she lost out by only 480 votes for the Mayor's chair in 1970. The result was 3,993 for Mayor Roman and 3,513 for Mrs. Walker.

As yet, there has been no notification from Jim Jongeneel, Regional councillor.

Highway 'soccer goal' is obstacle course for drivers

A 'soccer goal' at the intersection of Ramona Boulevard and Paramount Road, Markham? Not really, but certainly a test of one's driving skills. The tunnel is meant to direct motorists down the centre of the street, rather than cutting through the corners, still not completed.
