Art show questions technology

BY HANNELORE VOLPE
Staff Writer

Technology and all it has turned out not to be is the subject of Toronto artist Adam Bellavance's exhibition at the Latcham Gallery.

The show runs from Jan. 12 to Feb. 16 with the opening reception Jan. 12 from 1 to 3 p.m.

You are welcome to meet the artist.

This solo exhibition presents new paintings focusing on technology and questioning its success.

The art comments on the role of computers and their unrealized promise to deliver a better planet.

His paintings present a surface like a computer monitor's screen, which, like an interface, brings us into its environment. The surfaces of his paintings are richly painted, then covered with a thick, slick layer of lacquer.

On top of this, he attaches small electronic pieces that create their own composition – aesthetically pleasing and intriguing, but with no function.

The Latcham Gallery is at 6240 Main St. in Stouffville.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
