New look, new work at mission

A new logo to celebrate 100 years of service by Christian Blind Mission was unveiled in Whitchurch-Stouffville last week.

The century mark for the non-profit organization which help people in developing countries also marks the beginning of an increased emphasis on helping people with all physical disabilities.

Until now, CBM's work focused mainly on restoring and protecting people's sight.

In 2006 alone, more than 18 million people with visual impairments were helped through CBM, mainly through cataract surgeries.

The mission's national headquarters are on Stouffville Road.
