The man photographed robbing PACE Credit Union in Stouffville struck in Oshawa Saturday, police say.

Suspect may live in Durham, Kawarthas

But when tellers at the Stouffville bank saw the man coming in the most recent robbery they recognized him and refused to hand over cash, Det.-Sgt. Wassink said. He left empty-handed.

York police circulated the suspect's photos to media in the Stouffville area but got no tips from the public about the man's identity.

Last Thursday, those photos appeared in Durham media as York cops widened their search, Saturday, the suspect walked into the TD branch on Stevenson Road around 4 p.m., said he had a gun and left with cash.

The only attempt the suspect made at hiding his identity in the Oshawa robbery was to wear sunglasses. In the Stouffville robberies, he was bare faced, Det.-Sgt. Wassink said.

He said the Oshawa robbery strengthened a belief held by York cops that the suspect is possibly a resident of Durham or the Kawarthas who struck what he saw as a vulnerable bank in Stouffville, then fled York Region.

The suspect may have targeted the Oshawa bank after failing to get any money in Stouffville, Det.-Sgt. Wassink said.

"It's not uncommon when people are unsuccessful for them to go somewhere else," he said.

The suspect is a white man aged 35 to 40 who stands 5 feet, 8 inches with a heavy build. He wears a beard and usually had on a ball cap.

Anyone with information is asked to call police at 905-579-1520, ext. 5355 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477.
