

Kinsmen have fun fighting disease

The third annual Kinsmen Valentine's Dance combines an evening of fun with support for a serious disease.

The dinner/dance supports programs for and research into cystic fibrosis, a disease which can leave cystic fibrosis patients with lung infections and unable to digest food.

The dinner/dance Feb. 16 at the Stouffville Royal Canadian Legion hall features a band, Itchy & Scratchy, and a lot of audience participation.

Half the proceeds from the event go to the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, while the rest helps the Stouffville Kinsmen help people in need. The club organizes the annual Stouffville Santa Clause parade.

Kinsmen Canada "is the single largest donor to CF as an organization, across Canada," Kinsmen president Scott Schlusser said.

The doors open for the Valentine's dinner/dance at 7 p.m. at the Stouffville Royal Canadian Legion on Ninth Line, north of Main Street. Tickets are $50 per couple and are available by calling 905-642-9823.

THE ABC'S OF CYSTIC FIBROSIS

- ▶ The Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, which funds research and care, is one of the world's largest non-governmental granting agencies in this field.
- ▶ CF is the most common fatal genetic disease affecting young people.
- ▶ It involves primarily the lungs, leading to inflammation and infections and making breathing difficult. The disease also makes it difficult to digest food.

- ▶ Research into the disease and the development of improved treatments have led to a median survival age of 37.
- ▶ A few decades back, many youngsters with CF died in childhood
