KEITH ACTON: Leafs assistant coach dons apron for night at YMCA charity dinner in Stouffville.

Celebrities serving up charitable meal

You can have your dinner served by a Stanley Cup winner or a politician next week in Stouffville.

And maybe you can offer advice to your server for the Toronto Maple Leafs power play or Whitchurch-Stouffville council.

A silent auction/celebrity dinner fundraising event in support of YMCA's Strong Kids Campaign takes place at Boston Pizza Wednesday from 5 to 9 p.m.

Leafs assistant coach Keith Acton, who won a cup while playing in Edmonton, Mayor Wayne Emmerson and members of council along with "mystery celebrities" will serve dinner.

A percentage of the meal profits go to the campaign, said Karen Cashin, employment program team leader at the YMCA Stouffville employment resource centre.

All proceeds from the silent auction support the campaign.

The Strong Kids Campaign is raising money for deserving children, teenagers and families who are unable to afford the full cost of participation in a YMCA program or activity.

The month-long campaign kicks off tomorrow.
