"MOM, THIS SUMMER I CAN LEARN TO PROGRAM VIDEO GAMES"

from Pacman for the PC to a 3D Space Combat Simulator for the Xbox"

Your 9 to 17 year old gamer is already good at math but does not work hard at it. S/he may have been telling you that, some day, s/he wants to program video games as a job.

RP4K can teach your child or teen REAL PROGRAMMING LANGUAGES such as Visual Basic, Java, C# or C++. We teach game programming to all levels of kids and teens. There are never more than 4 students per instructor. You will wish you had this when you were a kid!

One or two week summer 2008 programming camps take place in Richmond Hill from June 23 to August 15.

Spartans take Trent tourney, snap curse

The Stouffville District Secondary School Spartans senior boys' rugby team tuned up for defence of its Ontario and York Region championships by winning the Trent University Invitational Monday in Peterborough, climaxed with a 7-0 win over Adam Scott Collegiate.

Jamie Gregory scored the game's lone try and Matt Raguseo, who was named the tournament's MVP, added the convert.

Raguseo is part of the national team program.

Opening the tournament against Thomas A Stewart and playing in a downpour, the Spartans cruised to a 14-3 win. Raguseo accounted for all of the points with a pair of tries and two converts.

RAGUSEO STARS IN VICTORIES

Facing Trenton High School in their second game, the Spartans overcame an 11-0 deficit and got a try from Raguseo on the final play of the match to emerge with a 14-11 win and a berth in the final.

Raguseo also scored one other try and booted two converts.

Last week in Lindsay, the Spartans broke a curse by defeating Lindsay Collegiate Institute for the first time ever in an exhibition tilt 19-12.

The victory snapped a seven-game losing streak spanning six years.

"Last year, we lost to them twice," Spartans head coach Jamie Hewitt said. "But this year, our players were looking forward to playing them. Lindsay is a very good team and the game was well played."

Raguseo scored two tries and booted two converts and Kyle Miller added the other try.

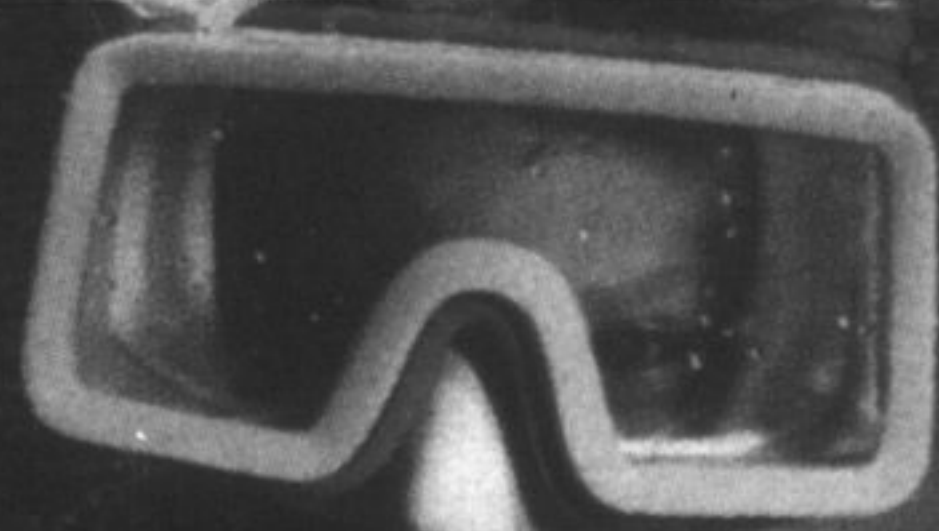

BOEUTCHER LEADS JUNIORS

In other rugby action, the Spartans juniors took to the pitch last week for an exhibition tilt against I.E. Weldon Secondary School and prevailed 15-0.

Oliver Boeutcher scored all three tries for the Spartans.

The Spartans were to host their eighth annual invitational tournament at the old Stouffville District Secondary School field yesterday.

It's Report Card time

Don't panic. This isn't about pass or fail.

But it is about health.

A healthy watershed means life for all who live in it. An unhealthy watershed needs our help.

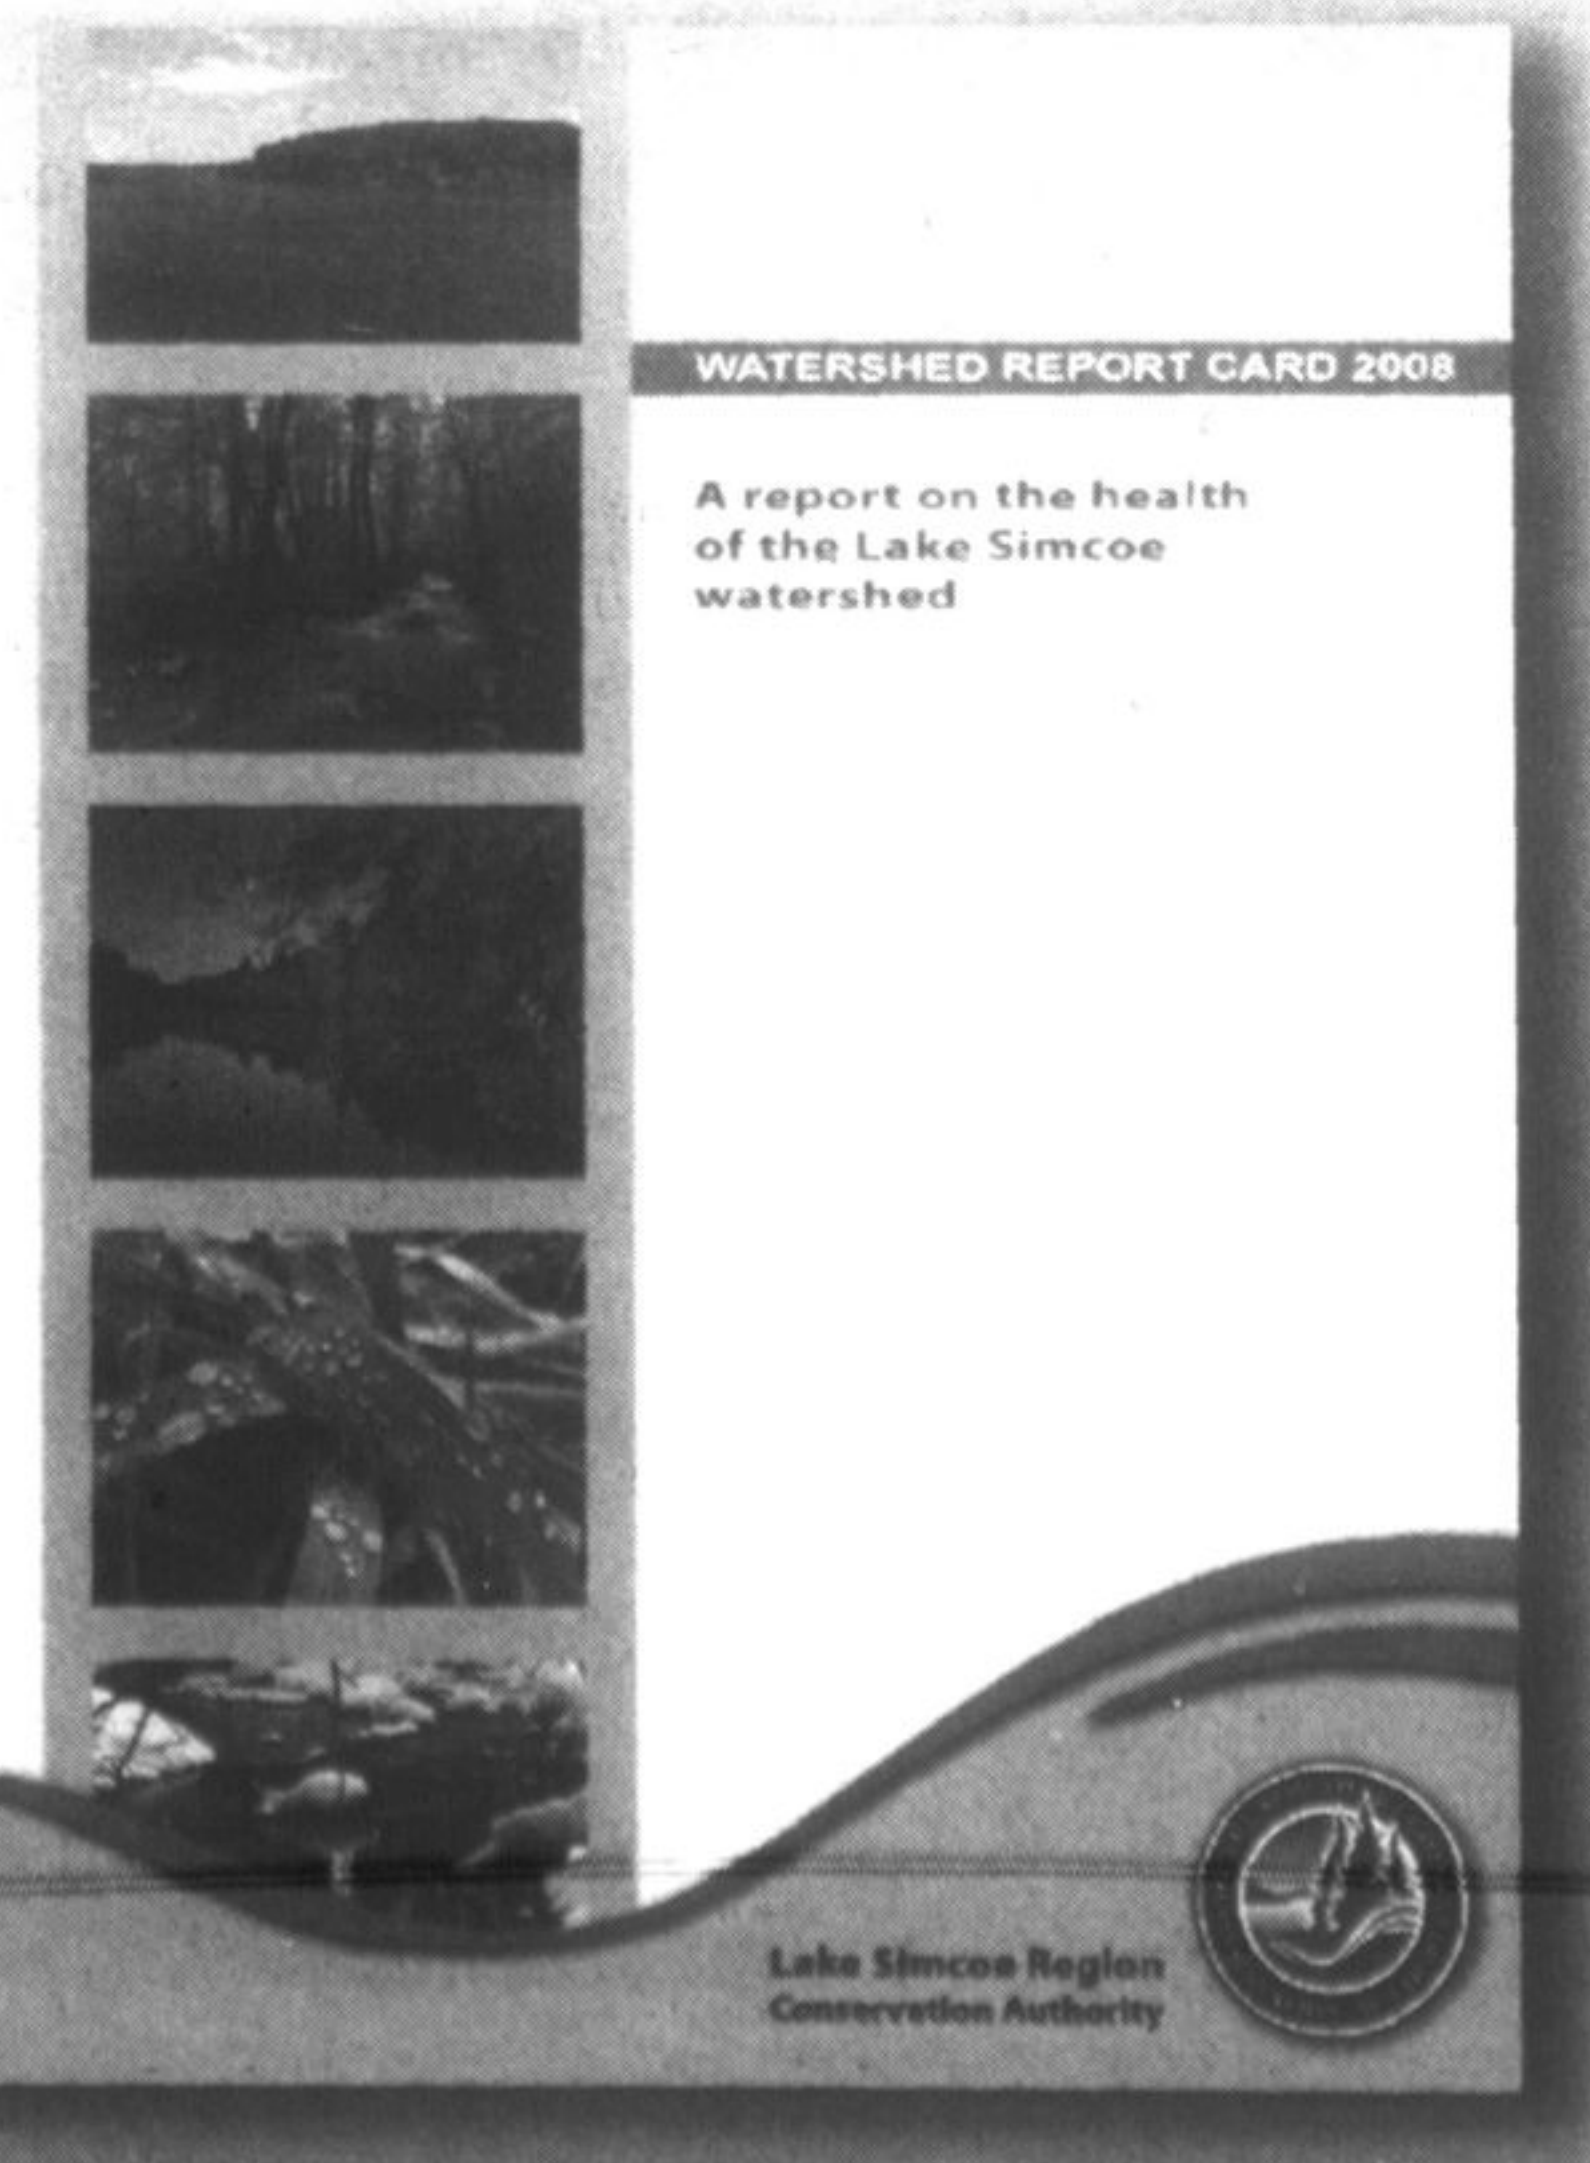

Everything you do on the land shows up in the water. We've tested water samples and studied forests, fish and plants. Every sub-watershed that feeds Lake Simcoe has been graded on 8 factors.

Look for your copy of our Watershed Report Card 2008 in the next edition of this paper.

Knowing where we are is the start of working together towards the solution.
