

My love, MY FRIEND

High-tech presents for modern mothers

Mom's life looks something like a hurricane what with household chores, looking after the kids and work? She always has to be available for her work while giving some quality time to her children? She always has her cell phone and laptop with her? This year, impress her by offering her a high-tech present for the modern woman she is.

Health is a preoccupation for your mother, but she doesn't have time to devote herself to it? Give her an electronic pedometer which, as well as counting the number of steps she takes in a day, can build statistics on her habits and recommend a training schedule which can be carried out by concentrating on an activity as simple as walking. She wants to cut down on calories while continuing to appreciate the pleasures of dining? Register her in an on-line, recipe-sharing forum. This way, she can exchange recipes with thousands of women in the same situation.

Mom doesn't live in the same town or in the same area as you? Never mind. Offer her a webcam so that she can see and talk to you easily even though you're far apart. She could also use this device to talk with her beloved grandchildren. This year, on May 11th, surprise your mother with a high-tech present that will help her organize that hurricane of daily jobs as well as allowing her to profit from the pleasures of life.

Surprise your mom with an up-to-the-minute, high-tech present.
