

FACES IN THE NIGHT

Visitors to Shelley Poirier's home on Park Drive in Stouffville met up with Alice Cooper, the St. Brigid Catholic School Bulldog, Hannah Montana and other celebrity pumpkins on Halloween. The more difficult designs had three layers and took more than two hours each to carve. Some areas are cut through (brightest when lit), some only the orange skin is shaved down (mid-tone), and other areas are left orange (darkest). She got the designs off the Internet and used tools, including a carving kit and knives, to complete the work.

On-the-job training is not only a great learning experience, it's a chance for students to pursue their individual interests and begin building a career. With Expanded Co-op—part of the Student Success Program—more students now have the opportunity to gain valuable work experience while earning credits, including 2 compulsory credits, towards their diploma. With a front-row introduction to sectors that truly interest them, students get the chance to "test drive" career options and build on their individual strengths and abilities. Co-op can help students whether they are heading to university, college, apprenticeship or the workplace. To learn more about Expanded Co-op and other programs like Dual Credits and Specialist High Skills Majors, contact your school or visit ontario.ca/studentsuccess.

STUDENT SUCCESS PROGRAM
