Stouffville United welcomes new minister Sunday

Stouffville United Church officially welcomes its new minister Sunday.

The Rev. Nancy Waterman is the subject of a special service of worship at 4 p.m. The church's Junior Youth Spirit will then serve a soup supper and present its new outreach project, The Gregory Farm.

There will be no morning worship service Sunday.

Rev. Waterman and her family came to Stouffville from Caledon where she had been in ministry for 12 years.

Why Stouffville United?

"Because I believe that this is where God was calling me and my family," she said. "A year ago, I hadn't even seriously considered making a move. But then I heard that Stouffville United was seeking a new minister and I felt drawn to respond. When I did, I found a group of people who were serious about living faithfully both in and out of the church."

Rev. Waterman holds a masters of divinity from Emmanuel College as well as certificates in youth ministry and spiritual practices. In more than 20 years of ministry, she has served in rural, urban and suburban ministries.

Her husband, Glenn, is the director of development with The Leprosy Mission Canada, an international Christian medical mission in Richmond Hill. Her two daughters attend Stouffville District Secondary School.

What is she most looking forward to in Stouffville?

"Continuing to get to know the people and how their faith impacts their lives and the lives of the people around them and being a part of a vital Christian community that is actively seeking God's presence and God's will," she said.
