

3 community agencies to split $54K grant from province

A trio of York Region social service agencies will share $54,150 from the province.

These funds are part of a $3.2 million Ontario government investment to improve accessibility, safety and security in community social service agencies. Funds will help agencies upgrade their facilities and serve more people.

Markham's Cerebral Palsy Parent Council of Toronto will receive $24,650, Reena $15,000 and Community Living York South $14,500, Oak Ridges-Markham MPP Dr. Helena Jaczek said.

"Improving the safety and accessibility of social service agencies is a high priority," she said. "This investment will help our local agencies provide better services to the people in our community who need them most."

The money will allow these agencies to keep their facilities in good condition and will help cover the costs of important upgrades and facility improvements.

"These community agencies provide Richmond Hill with extremely important services," Richmond Hill MPP Reza Moridi, said. "The government's new investments will provide these agencies with an improved work environment."
