Lemonville art show can be moving target

It was almost 20 years ago when a handful of local artists decided to get together and bring their work out of the basement and into the public for all to see and buy.

Today, there are 21 members in the Lemonville Group of Artists and on May 1 and 2 in the Lemonville Community Centre, 13453 McCowan Rd., they will be putting on their 17th annual show.

"Our show is a little bit unique in that if you see something you like, you can take it home with you," said Diana Bullock, the show's convenor. "The show you see Saturday at 10 a.m. may not be the same show you see Sunday night at 4:30."

This year's show features work by Sandra Cole Burke (watercolour, wood block printing), Morven Crothers (acrylic, Sumi-e, watercolour), Helen McKenna, Shelley Ophelders, June Probert, Joan Humphrey and Isabel Emmerson (acrylic, watercolour), Eileen Christensen, Elizabeth Gillan and Suzanne Larkin (watercolour), Bette Archer (pencil), Rosemarie Wright (pencil, watercolour), Autumn Graves (acrylic, oil, watercolour), Irene Wolff (acrylic) and Ms Bullock (mixed media, Sumi-e, watercolour).

"We just hope everybody comes out and enjoys the two days," Ms Bullock said.

The show runs from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days and is free.

Create cards at Free Family Art Day

Calling all youngsters. You can bring home a handful of exciting art that you and others will create at the Latcham Gallery's Free Family Art Day on Saturday.

Between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m., you can create art trading cards, the size of hockey cards. Let your imagination run and play as you create cards of different designs, using all kinds of media and materials provided by the gallery.

Then the real fun begins. Trade your cards for those of the other young artists taking part in the event. The more cards you make, the more you can trade.

Free Family Days are sponsored by the RBC Foundation.
