TO DO: York-Durham railway returns next month
Tourist train coming down track

Stouffville's tourist train will be back on track this June.

The York-Durham Heritage Railway's volunteers have prepared the track and the train for the 2010 season, to begin June 6.

The "GTA's only tourist railway" will offer round trips between Uxbridge and Stouffville until Oct. 31, with trains operating on Sundays only until late September and all weekend through to Halloween.

Round trips leave Uxbridge's historical station at 10 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. and from the Stouffville Station at noon.

Return fares for 2010 are $23 for adults and $15 for children aged two to 12, with a $21 fare for seniors (65 and older) and students (13 to 17 years old). Children younger than two not occupying a seat travel free, while a family pass for up to two adults and three children is available for $68.

Horse-drawn wagon rides meet the lunch-time train at Uxbridge station to take passengers on a free tour of downtown Uxbridge, organized by the Township.
