

Masonic secret's out – for good

As a teenager, I recall my father pacing back and forth across the farm kitchen floor, holding tightly in both hands a little black book and talking quietly to himself.

We kids never knew what he was talking about and didn't ask. For it was obvious the subject matter was top secret, so much so, I doubt even my mother was aware. She went about her regular household chores unmindful of dad's mental immersion in hush-hush stuff.

My father was a Freemason, a fraternal interest that, for him, bordered on obsession. His membership, associated with Markham Union Lodge, saw him graduate through the chairs to the position of senior warden. But he never went further, thinking perhaps more of his time should be spent at home.

While I don't recall dad suggesting I should follow his footsteps, there's no doubt he wished for that. However, it wasn't to be. But I never lost interest in the alliance, a form of brotherhood that had a way of welding men together into the single cohesive company it still is today.

However, things change. The mystery that once proliferated this fraternity has receded, replaced by openness and sincerity. This was apparent when Richardson Masonic Lodge of Stouffville celebrated its 150th anniversary June 19. A banquet, to mark the occasion, was held in The Great Hall of Christ Church Anglican with a cross-section of the community attending.

Richardson Lodge, named after the late Francis Richardson, had its humble beginnings June 15, 1860, in the upper room of a stable at Cashel, at what is now 18th Avenue and Kennedy Road in Markham.

In the spring of 1866, the lodge moved to Knill's Hall in Stouffville. The present structure, at the corner of Ninth Line and Second Street, was erected in 1955.

All this and more was included in an historical moments' brochure and video provided by Bill Sanders, Peter Burkhold-

Roaming Around

with Jim Thomas

er, Sandy Sandiland, Jim Johnston, Kelly Holden, Steve Fronske and Ben Wallis.

The anniversary's co-chairs were Ken Prentice and Kelly Holden.

A cheque, valued at $1,000, was presented to an autism services provider in Aurora.

The current worshipful master is Bill Bower of Cannington.

Guest speaker Raymond S.J. Daniels of Kitchener, Grand Master, Grand Lodge of Canada, praised the Richardson image as seen through the attendance of so many public people.

"You," he said, "are in the business of planting trees, under whose shade you do not expect to sit."

Some visitors came from a distance including sisters Betty Miller of Ottawa and Mary Davis of Toronto, daughters of K. Ross 'Shine' Davis, lodge master 1923-24. Mr. Davis was described as "a man whose traits placed him at the pinnacle of what it means to be a true Mason".

Tribute was also paid to Edward (Ted) Barry who, on Jan. 12, 2000, was presented the Wm. Mercer Wilson Medal, most prestigious of recognitions a Master Mason can receive.

Of interest also is the fact no less than seven Wagg family members have served the position of worshipful master: Dean Wagg, (1950); Norman Wagg, (1951); Kenneth N. Wagg, (1954); Herb Wagg, (1959); Ken Wagg, (1968); Murray Wagg, (1970) and Gordon Wagg, (1972).

Hopefully, the Richardson motto "happy to meet, sorry to part, happy to meet again" will be repeated 50 years hence.

Jim Thomas is a Stouffville resident who has written for area newspapers for more than 50 years.

Men arrested at Stouffville home

From page 1.

Markham area, Det.-Const. Willmets said.

Police arrived at an undisclosed home in Whitchurch-Stouffville Tuesday at about 10 a.m. and arrested two men who lived there without incident, he said.

The men are believed to be long-time friends, he said.

Nicholas Latour, 22, of Whitchurch-Stouffville is charged with six counts of sexual assault and three counts of sexual interference.

Peter Hale, 49, also of Whitchurch-Stouffville is charged with two counts of sexual assault and two counts of sexual interference. Both men appeared at the Newmarket courthouse Wednesday, Det.-Const. Willmets said.

If you have any information, call police at 1-866-876-5423, ext. 7071, Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS, leave a tip at 1800222tips.com or text TIPYORK and your message to CRIMES (274637)

Police looking for new constables

The York Regional Police recruiting unit invites anyone who is interested in a career in policing to an information session.

The service is "actively recruiting candidates of the highest calibre who represent all our diverse communities across York Region".

You must:

- be a Canadian citizen or permanent resident of Canada and at least 18 years of age;

- be physically and mentally able to perform the duties of the position, having regard to his or her own safety and the safety of members of the public;

- be of good moral character and habits; and

- have successfully completed at least four years of secondary school education or its equivalent.

Interested applicants are asked to RSVP, with their full name, phone number, city and e-mail address to recruiting@yrp.ca

An information meeting will take place July 28, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Newmarket Theatre, 505 Pickering Cres., Newmarket. For more information, call 1-866-876-5423 ext. 6722 or go to www.yrp.ca.

Fun & Excitement

July 1st - 4th

Big Laughs & Hot Tunes

July 2nd & 3rd

HA! HA! HA! HA!

Friday, July 2

GIGGLES COMEDY NIGHT

Laugh your worries away with 3 international comedians! Enjoy the comic wit and hilarious anecdotes of Brian Lazanik, Dave Hemstad and Jason Blanchard. Tickets $15 at Pharmasave, Barthau Jewellers, Stouffville Fish n Chips, Lebovic Leisure Centre and the Strawberry Festival Office or call 905-642-3779.

Sponsored by LaFarge Canada Inc.

Saturday, July 3

DANCE THE NIGHT AWAY

Shake it up with the cool vibe and smoking-hot energy of Grant Fullerton & Jamnation. Fiery blues, awesome rock & jam-party favourites! Tickets $5 at the Marquee Tent Saturday night.

Sponsored by Stouffville Glass Inc.

Diamond Sponsors

Platinum Sponsor

For more information www.strawberryfestival.ca