OBITUARY: Standing room only at St. Mark's

Al Hachey remembered for work with Knights, curling club

St. Mark Catholic Church was standing room only Tuesday morning.

They came from a cross-section of the community and beyond to say farewell to a man who left his mark across Whitchurch-Stouffville.

Al Hachey died at his west-end home Friday. He was 70.

From the hockey rink to elementary schools, and St. Mark church to planning for a curling club in Stouffville, he was part of it all.

"Considering that Dad had his first heart attack 22 years ago, or that his father, mother, and two brothers all died of heart failure, you could argue that his death was not unexpected," his daughter Brenda Bradley said in her eulogy.

"But I don't know — you kind of had the sense that he had beaten it. This is a guy who took up windsurfing at 40, who ran the Terry Fox run at 70 and many other years."

He is survived by his wife of 43 years, Jane, and children Linda (Scott) Sloka and their daughter Megan, Brenda (Corrie) and their daughters Kate and Claire, and Bruce (Marti-Anne) Hachey and their sons Rylan and Cole, all of Kitchener-Waterloo.

After obtaining an engineering degree, the New Brunswick native worked in Labrador City, where he met Jane Seaborn.

After marrying, they moved to Stouffville 30 years ago where they raised their family.

Mr. Hachey retired eight years ago after a 35-year career in the industrial controls division of Honeywell Inc.

He was well known in Stouffville in recent years for his work on the curling club and with the St. Mark's Knights of Columbus, particularly as co-ordinator of the Whitchurch-Stouffville-wide basketball free-throw competitions sponsored by the Knights.

"May (these words) encourage you to, like my dad, pour your life out," his daughter told Tuesday's service. "May they remind you to take some unhurried time and give someone the gift of an unexpected conversation, an unexpected act of kindness, an unexpected 22 extra years with the people that you love."

Donations may be made to the Heart and Stroke Foundation or to the church.
