Police, Spirit launch new hockey cards

York Regional Police are in the hockey card business again.

Officers are giving out sets of team cards from the eight Jr. A and C Ontario Hockey Association clubs in York Region starting this weekend.

Each set of cards represents players of each team and features the player's photo and profile along with crime prevention and character messages.

Officers and the force's mascots will distribute the cards at five games this month, starting tomorrow in Stouffville. Chief Eric Jolliffe will drop the puck for the ceremonial opening faceoff before the Stouffville Spirit play the Orangeville

Flyers at 2:10 p.m. at the Stouffville Arena.

Town director retiring

After 20 years with the Town of Whitchurch-Stouffville, Tom Parry, director of engineering and capital projects, is retiring.

"(He) made enormous contributions, ensuring responsible infrastructure planning and management during a period of substantial growth," said Dave Cash, CAO of Whitchurch-Stouffville.

Taking over for Mr. Parry as of Feb. 7 will be Michael Molinari.

"He is particularly knowledgeable in municipal engineering, transportation/traffic and storm water matters and has a good understanding of municipal operations," according to Mr. Cash.

Mr. Molinari is currently director of community services for the City of Oshawa. Previous positions for Mr. Molinari include transportation infrastructure engineer/capital projects engineer for the Town of Ajax and as civil engineer for the government of the Commonwealth of the Bahamas.

Mr. Parry will remain with the town through March as director of special projects.
