entered and were second in the other.

The Cubs are led by the line of Eric Martineau, the Timmins Midget Hockey League's regular-season scoring champ who had 32 goals and 44 assists himself.

"You don't think they're coming here to prove something with that record?" Mr. McMahon said.

The fifth entry, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association champion Amherstburg Stars from near Windsor, play Credit Valley at 2:45 p.m. Sarnia and Schumacher square off at 4:30 p.m.

Opening ceremonies, at 6:45 p.m., precede the final game of the day, a repeat of the OMHA final series of the last two years between Stouffville and Amherstburg.

Tournament volunteers and participants in the ceremonies, including the Stouffville District Secondary School choir and the five team ambassadors from the school, went through a dry run Tuesday night at the arena.

Stouffville minor hockey graduate Keith Acton, an assistant coach with the Toronto Maple Leafs, will be at the banquet and the opening ceremonies.

Round-robin games continue Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. Stouffville plays Sarnia at 11:15 a.m. and Credit Valley at 4 p.m.

The top four teams qualify for Sunday's semifinals, at 8 and 10 a.m. The championship final will be played at 3 p.m.

"We've been together pretty much every day since the OMHAs ended two weeks ago getting ready," Stouffville coach Don Easter said.

The Clippers, who practised last night, have included dryland training and video sessions in their preparations.

If they win the tournament, the midgets would join the 2002 A peewees and 1999 AAA juveniles as OHA champs from Stouffville.

Tickets are $20 for a weekend pass or $8 a day.
