Accident victim loved his work

Kyle Knox, 24, died on job at York U subway

BY SANDRA BOLAN
sbolan@yrmg.com

Kyle Knox had a passion for construction, fishing, hunting and snowcross racing.

The 24-year-old Musselman's Lake resident died Tuesday when a drilling rig toppled onto two smaller machines at York University.

Mr. Knox was caught in one of the smaller machines.

He would have turned 25 Nov. 12.

The accident happened at 2:40 p.m. at the future site of the new TTC subway station, next to the Schulich School of Business.

"He was my best friend," said his sister, Kendall, 23. "Everything he did, I did."

That includes playing hockey, which is how Mr. Knox met his longtime girlfriend Nicole Love.

Mr. Knox is also survived by his parents, Sherry and Kent.

REAL MEN WEAR PINK

Stouffville firefighters, including John Winters (from left), Kyle Bullock, Tim Irwin, Mark Busse and Sean Tucker, will be donning "Care Enough to Wear Pink" shirts from Oct. 15 to 22 to show support for National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. They'll sell the shirts to benefit local groups Saturday afternoon in front of the LCBO and next Thursday night at the Stouffville Spirit Jr. A hockey game at the Stouffville Arena.

Classic Leaf pic a winner

A picture's worth a thousand words.

As the saying goes,

What then is the value of a priceless picture?

Stouffville's Joe Longo should know.

For, on a mantle in his home, one such priceless picture holds a very special place.

It's a 34 by-17-inch photograph of 12 Toronto Maple Leaf hockey players, part of a 1930-31 team that was then playing out of the old Mutual Street arena, a year before Maple Leaf Gardens was completed.

The lineup, seven of which are in the Hockey Hall of Fame, includes Benny Grant, Joe Primeau, King Clancy, Charlie Conacher, Busher Jackson, Ace Bailey, Harold Cotton, coach Art Duncan, Hap Day, Red Horner and Lorne Chabot.
