Food Bank at Christmas, according to Mr. Smith.

But this year, he said, the Kinsmen weren't sure if they could even do that because their major fundraiser at the Markham Fair did not take place.

The band's cancellation, however, not only helped the Santa Fund, but also allowed the Kinsmen to assist Yellow Brick House and the Whitchurch-Stouffville Food Bank,

Mr. Smith said.

Although this year's Santa Fund is over, donations will still be accepted, Stouffville Sun-Tribune's Mike Banville said.

"We have just finished up this year's drive. We continue to take any last minute families in need and can always use gift cards and cash donations which help to fill the gaps."

with the BU hockey team," coach Jack Parker told BU Today.

The 21-year-old Toronto native, who was in his senior year and the leading scorer in Hockey East with 13 goals and four assists in 15 games, was charged after an incident Sunday night in which a man forced his way into the room of a female student.

Trivino pleaded not guilty to all the charges at his arraignment Tuesday at Brighton District Court.

A second-round draft pick of the New York

Islanders in the 2008 National Hockey League entry draft, Trivino played with the Spirit for two seasons in 2006-07 and 2007-08.

Werek told the Sun-Tribune it all seems surreal.

"It left me sick to my stomach. I've been feeling terrible because I knew the kid really well," he said.

"It's not the kid we knew. When he came to Stouffville, he was a wonderful kid and he was nothing but a tremendous asset to our community.

"He never had any incidents when he was in Stouffville."

In Our Community

Christmas memories were made at Giancarlo's Bakery and Cafe on Sunday December 11th. Kids and parents participated in a Gingerbread Cottage Decorating workshop at 6242 Main Street in Stouffville.

The smells of Gingerbread, apple cider and the sounds of Christmas music and children's laughter filled the bakery. Each child's imagination created a unique gingerbread house filled with treats ready to eat on Christmas Day. Everyone enjoyed sipping hot chocolate and digging into a giant christmas tree cupcake.

There were goody bags for the parents too. Giancarlo's will offer more baking workshops and is available to host kid's birthday parties.
