'Now we have to go home and keep working on the little details and hopefully we can both be on the podium at the Olympics. That would be amazing.'

Karen Cockburn, three-time Olympian

Karen flying into London

Karen Cockburn will be entering the 2012 Summer Olympics in London next month on a high.

The 31-year-old Stouffville resident bounced and somersaulted her way to a second-place finish in the final World Cup event prior to the 2012 Summer Olympics in Arosa, Switzerland Saturday.

Cockburn qualified fourth in the preliminaries, but amped up her performance in the final to share a World Cup podium for the first time with her Canadian teammate and King City resident Rosie MacLennan, who finished first.

Cockburn finished with a score of 55.125 points while MacLennan's winning tally was 55.605.

Cockburn went into her final competition before the Olympics eager to prove the formidable Chinese team of Shanshan Huang and Li Dan was not unbeatable.

"It's kind of surreal, the Chinese didn't fall and they did good routines, so we're kind of shocked," said Cockburn, winner of two silvers and a bronze in three Olympic Games.

"It's the best we good have ever hoped for at the last World Cup before the Olympics. Now we have to go home and keep working on the little details and hopefully we can both be on the podium at the Olympics. That would be amazing."
