

Students' success recognized

BY SANDRA BOLAN

Success is defined as "the accomplishment of an aim, the attainment of wealth, fame or position. A thing or person that turns out well," according to the Canadian Oxford Dictionary.

Obtaining wealth and fame is yet to be determined by two of Whitchurch-Stouffville's students, but they have achieved the other aspects of success — all before graduating elementary school and becoming teenagers.

Wendat Village Public School's Isaiah Cho and Jennifer Ward, both 12, are among 24 students honoured by the York Region District School Board at its annual Celebrating Student Success ceremony.

Ms Ward is a high-performance gymnast who leaves school early four days a week to train. But she gets her school work done and even goes out of her way to help others who are struggling.

Ms Ward is a high-performance gymnast who leaves school early four days a week to train. But she gets her school work done and even goes out of her way to help others who are struggling.

She is also a primary class lunch monitor and helps in the school playground and office.

"I believe if you're going to do something, you should do it to the best of your ability," Ms Ward said in a video provided by the school board.

Mr. Cho is a leader. He's even a member of the school's student leadership team.

However, he remains inclusive, respectful and optimistic, according to teacher Sarah Hill, who said in the region-provided video, he has had a positive impact on her professionally as well as in the classroom.

Mr. Cho also works with a kindergarten learning partner at the first-year school.

"Success is when you know you've done your best and you used your accomplishments to help others," he said.

'SPECIAL' SALE

Fur coats, cross-country skis and racquets from almost every sport imaginable will be offered up at the York Regional Police's garage sale extravaganza in support of Special Olympics. Const. Andy Pattenden poses with some of the goods that will be sold Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon at the Community Safety Village at Bruce's Mill Conservation Area on Stouffville Road.
