

Tanaka on Canadian team headed for Universiade in Italy

Cory Tanaka was one of three York Region residents named to the Canadian men's hockey team that will compete at the 2013 Winter Universiade in Trentino, Italy Dec. 10 to 21, the Canadian Univeruniversity Sport recently announced.

The 25-year-old Stouffville resident is in his fifth season as a forward with St. Mary's University Huskies.

A former member of the Plymouth Whalers and Belleville Bulls of the Ontario Hockey League before enrolling at the Halifax-based school, Tanaka is earning his MBA.

The 22-player roster was finalized following an all-star game featuring top prospects held recently in Fredericton.

Twelve teams will compete for FISU gold next month, including Canada, Japan, Ukraine and Kazakhstan in Pool A; Russia, Great Britain, the Czech Republic and Slovakia in Pool B and Italy, Latvia, Sweden and the United States in Pool C.

Canada heads to Trentino as defending bronze medallist from the 2011 championships.

Rugby player named OUA all-star

Richard Ormrod joined some select company as he was one of 32 players chosen to the Ontario University Athletics All-Star rugby squad for the 2013 season, the OUA recently announced.

The Gormley native was in his second year as a fullback for the McMaster Marauders. Ormrod helped the Marauders record a 4-3 won-loss conference record and reach the semifinals where they suffered a loss to Queen's and then placed fourth after losing the bronze medal match to Guelph.
